

Special Issue on Sustainable Development and Capital Market in China

Special Issue Editor: Louis T. W. Cheng

To cite this article: Special Issue Editor: Louis T. W. Cheng (2020): Special Issue on Sustainable Development and Capital Market in China, The Chinese Economy, DOI: 10.1080/10971475.2020.1741161

To link to this article: <https://doi.org/10.1080/10971475.2020.1741161>

Published online: 24 Mar 2020.

Submit your article to this journal ↗

Article views: 228

View related articles ↗

View Crossmark data ↗

CALL FOR PAPERS

Special Issue on Sustainable Development and Capital Market in China

Special Issue Editor: Louis T. W. Cheng

About the Journal

The Chinese Economy is published by Taylor & Francis and it is included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index by Clarivate Analytics (<https://www.tandfonline.com/toc/mces20/current>). The RG Journal Impact for 2019 is 0.36. It is a bimonthly publication that offers an objective and analytical account of economic issues concerning China. The journal publishes original works written by scholars from all over the world on recent changes to the Chinese economy. The Chinese Economy focuses on China's current economic development as well as issues pertaining to the country's trade, banking, and finances. Policy and research papers addressing macroeconomic and firm-level analysis are particularly welcome. Scholars and policy-makers will find The Chinese Economy informative as it provides relevant and rigorous analysis by experts on China.

Overview

In the past few years, sustainable investments have become a very important criterion for the Chinese economic activities. From the long-term projects on infrastructure investment to short-term financing provided by banks, sustainability in forms use of proceeds and green financing such as green bonds and social inclusion loans are gaining momentum. In addition, ESG integration in asset management is a hot topic among investment professionals. This special issue aims to provide further understanding on how sustainability plays a role in economic development and capital markets.

Topics

Possible paper topics include, but are not limited to:

- Sustainability and environmental challenges in economic development in China
- Innovation in Sustainable Finance in China (including blockchain, fintech and AI)
- Infrastructure financing and sustainable investment in China
- Green and Climate Finance landscape in China
- Financial Inclusion and MSME financing in China
- The role of China in long-term financing for sustainable development (including asset management, pension funds, private equity, etc.)
- Capital Market and its Development in China

Special issue submission details

- Interested authors should submit their paper to: louis.cheng@polyu.edu.hk and cc jessie-ht.law@polyu.edu.hk by September 30, 2020. Early submissions are encouraged and will be reviewed earlier.
- Papers will be reviewed and the decision will be notified by November 1, 2020.